Herald Selected For Survey on News Photos

Selected because it makes extensive use of news photos, the Torrance Herald was recently named as one of five California weeklies to participate in a nation-wide newspaper survey.

The Herald has been asked to answer a number of technical questions relative to the use of news, sports, and feature photographs for a survey being conducted by the South Dakota State College, Brookings.

The recommendation of the Herald was made by the California Newspaper Publishers Association, an organization comprised of more than 300 weekly and daily newspapers in California.
